Meet Lucite Green

by Margie Deeb

February 2009

If it were up to me, Lucite Green would be the color of Spring 2009.

I'm crazy about Lucite Green because it is contemporary and retro at the same time. It is light, fun, and it is cool (in temperature, that is). It's also stylishly cool.

But most of all, Lucite Green, in all of its shimmering lightness, symbolizes an optimism for the economy as we work our way through spring and summer. So for that symbolic reason alone I would choose it as the season's most important color.

My latest publication, The Spring/Summer 2009 Color Report for Bead Artists, features Pantone's ten colors of the season. Through words, palettes, and photos, I show you how to work with them to create cracklin' good bead art.

Lucite Green is one of the 10 Spring 2009

palette members, and according to Pantone, "...reflective Lucite Green, a clean, clear subtle hue, adds a slight shimmer."

I've scoured the web looking for examples of Lucite Green for you, and most are found in vintage jewelry being sold on auction sites. I won't list the URLs here, because the images will be gone in a matter of days (if the seller is lucky). But I encourage you to do a search yourself and see some of the fun costume jewelry made in shades of Lucite Green.

Here are two images that will be linkable for some time (I hope.) Enjoy:

How Have You Lived without the Color Report for Bead Artists?

Download the Spring/Summer 2008 PDF now

Each season the Color Report for Bead Artists will expand what you can create in any medium - by introducing you to color combinations you've never used or even seen before. These seasonal PDFs contain over 40 palettes, descriptions, photos, gemstone and Delica bead suggestions, and ideas based on Pantone's fashion color report.

One of the most fun aspects of creativity is color: using new colors and harmonies. If you're like me, your beadwork soars when you're challenged and inspired. And it becomes exponentially more fun.

It thrills me to work with colors I've never seen or tried. Watching how the hues interact with each other and how I interact with them gives me such joy. And I want to learn more, go further, reach higher and create more.

Join me in exploring the exciting new colors of each season.

Responses to Margie's Color Report for Bead Artists:

"I really like the color report - particularly because there are colors that I probably would not have considered or noticed and this gives new directions to travel. I also REALLY appreciated the listing of the gemstones."
- Kathy L.

"Very helpful. I tend to work in certain palettes over and over again, but seeing a different palette helps me move out of my comfort zone."
- Susan K.

"I appreciated the fact that you mentioned your initial reaction to some of the Pantone colors for this season and yet after exploring them, your reaction to them changed. It reminds me to be open to colors I might not usually consider for jewelry (or wearing)."
- Rosalynn B.

*"I know I will not care for every season's colors but The Color Report for Bead Artists still gives me an idea of what to look for when designing for the next season. It is very helpful knowing that what I make will work with what is in the stores for those months."*
- Betty
